REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Applicant has claimed uniquely distinct features in the instant invention which are not found in the prior art, either singularly or in combination.

According to the invention, a device for producing a broadband communications signal consists of a chaotic circuit that is modulated by an informational signal. A periodic part of the chaotic signal is removed which produces a broadband communications signal without any periodic parts. The broadband signal is transmitted to a receiver with the periodic parts removed. The periodic part of the chaotic signal is then reconstructed using a nonlinear operator circuit. Lastly, the information signal contained in the chaotic signal is demodulated.

These features are not found or suggested in the prior art.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
